Asking Great Questions ... Get GREAT results The Art of Creative Dialog

Date: April 28-29 2009

Location: Duncan Conference Center
Delray Beach, Florida

Appreciative Inquiry (AI) is research into the root causes of success. It is asking, "What goes well around here, and how can we get more of it?"

We have been taught to look for the right answers but perhaps it's actually the questions that determine our quality of life! You may have spent time and energy finding answers, but we'd like to suggest that the real answer lies in the questions we ask of ourselves and each other. When you ask a question, you open worlds.

Why settle for less?

Learn to build strengths on strengths. Energize the BEST in people AND your church, organization, or business.

This two day workshop is part of a series on Appreciative Inquiry and Leadership. It is appropriate for those who are new to Appreciative Inquiry and those who have had experience.

Joyce

Workshop facilitators, Marge Schiller PhD. and Joyce Lemke, have worked with a variety of groups from schools to social service, and advocacy groups to business leaders. Marge is the author and editor of "Appreciative Leaders: in the Eye of the Beholder". Joyce is a noted educator and thought leader for Appreciative Inquiry.

The workshop is sponsored by The Positive Change Core.
